Course Overview

This two-day ultrasound (US) course hosted by the Pediatric Thyroid and the Department of Radiology at the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia (CHOP).

On day one, participants will experience a comprehensive series of lectures from CHOP's expert multi-disciplinary team designed to further demonstrate and highlight important factors to consider in pediatric thyroid US as compared with adults. The topics of discussion will range from workflow operations for point-of-care US at the bedside, examining both the thyroid and neck region for lymph nodes in a variety of disorders and conditions, review and utility of the Thyroid Imaging Reporting and Data System (TIRADS) scoring system, and Fine Needle Aspiration Biopsy (FNAB). On day two, participants will have an immersive, hands-on experience with CHOP's expert team to obtain hand-over-hand training in ultrasound technique. The target audience for this course is any healthcare worker providing care for pediatric patients with thyroid disease, thyroid nodules, or thyroid cancer; including but not limited to: pediatric endocrinologists, interventional radiologists, trainees, sonographers/ultrasound techs, etc.

Registration and General Information

The conference will be held at the Leonard and Madlyn Abramson Pediatric Research Center. The registration fee is $225 and includes continental breakfast, breaks, lunch and syllabus material.

Course Objectives

Participants will be able to:

- Perform and interpret comprehensive thyroid/neck ultrasound studies in pediatric patients in ways that thoughtfully guide clinical decision-making for potential FNAB and surgical treatment of patients.
- Identify features of normal thyroid anatomy as well as features of thyroid diseases, nodules, and cancer.
- Establish and identify opportunities to create streamlined multidisciplinary style management of patients and programs in their own departments/centers.
- Obtain real-life experience performing thyroid ultrasounds by holding the proper probes and understanding/utilizing key functions on ultrasound equipment to improve image-taking.
