

17th Annual CHOP Sexual Assault
Response Team (SART) Conference

VIRTUAL CONFERENCE

Monday, April 20th, 2026

8:00am - 5:00pm

Virtual Conference

This conference is intended for the multidisciplinary team: physicians, nurses, social workers, child life specialists, pharmacists, and patient service representatives.

Course Overview

Pediatric sexual assault is an alarming health concern producing substantial consequences medically, psychologically, and legally. Experiencing child sexual assault can result in short- and long-term physical, mental, and emotional health consequences. Therefore, the need for high quality medical, forensic and behavioral health services for pediatric victims of sexual assault victims is paramount.

This conference showcases a multidisciplinary approach to the care of pediatric sexual assault victims with expert presentations from Pediatric Emergency Medicine, Child Abuse, Special Immunology, Infectious Disease, and community partners. The goal of this conference is to provide a streamlined, developmentally appropriate, trauma-informed approach to provide high quality medical, forensic, and behavioral health care. Understanding how the intersection of healthcare, investigating agencies, and community advocacy agencies impacts the continuum of care for both the child and family is essential and shared during this conference.

General Information

This conference will be held virtually to allow learners to be able to attend throughout the country. Attendees will have access to PowerPoint slides via chop.cloud-cme.com if approved by speakers. The conference will occur from 8a.m. to 5p.m on Monday, April 20th.
