

Martin J. Herman, M.D. is a Professor of Orthopedic Surgery at the Drexel University College of Medicine, and Chief of Orthopaedic Surgery at St. Christopher's Hospital for Children, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. He is also the Program Director for the Drexel University College of Medicine Orthopaedic Surgery Residency Program. He graduated from Harvard College and completed his medical school training at Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons. He was a resident of Orthopedic Surgery at UMDNJ-Robert Wood Johnson Medical School and completed a fellowship in Pediatric Orthopedic Surgery at Campbell Clinic/University of Tennessee. He has practiced in the Philadelphia region since completing his training. His practice encompasses a wide range of pediatric musculoskeletal conditions, with special interests in traumatic injuries, scoliosis and hip conditions. He is on the Board of Directors for the Pediatric Orthopaedic Society of North American and the Executive Council for the American Academy of Pediatrics, Section of Orthopedics.