COURSE OVERVIEW

The Pediatric Difficult Airway 2019 Course will provide intensive training on the latest literature and technology for pediatric difficult airway management, with a focus on hands-on sessions in difficult airway management.

Participants will have exposure to a collection of experts from anesthesiology, critical care medicine and otolaryngology, covering topics integral to successful pediatric difficult airway practice. The unparalleled strength of this course is the simulation exposure in a small-group setting with an average ratio of 1 to 3. Learners will have exposure to live animal models and manikins to cover a host of challenging difficult airway scenarios. This course is designated for anesthesiologists, certified registered nurse anesthetists (CRNAs), anesthesiology fellows and anesthesiology residents seeking intensive training and realistic hands-on experience with difficult pediatric airway management.
