COURSE OVERVIEW

The Diabetes Center at Children’s Hospital of Philadelphia is offering a course for nurses, caregivers and nonhealthcare professionals who provide care to children with diabetes. Participants may include nurses in schools, homecare settings, primary care offices and behavioral health settings. This workshop will also benefit school personnel, daycare staff, case managers and staff in child protective services.

This course is designed to provide a solid foundation in current diabetes management. Topics to be reviewed will include: treatment of type 1 and type 2 diabetes; self-care management principles; understanding and using diabetes technology (insulin pumps and continuous glucose monitoring systems) to improve outcomes; the emotional impact of diabetes diagnosis on families, and developmental milestones; and how to engage with children and families living with diabetes.

GENERAL INFORMATION

The conference will be held on Saturday, Oct. 19, 2019, in the Ruth and Tristram Colket, Jr. Translational Research Building on the Raymond G. Perelman Campus. Registration will begin at 8 a.m. The $125 registration fee includes a light breakfast, breaks, lunch, syllabus materials and parking.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of this course, participants should be able to:

- Describe current practice guidelines for treating type 1 and type 2 diabetes and optimizing health outcomes for children
- Demonstrate a basic understanding of how technology (insulin pumps, closed loop systems and continuous glucose monitoring systems) can be used to improve diabetes outcomes
- Demonstrate familiarity of how to use diabetes technology to manage children with diabetes
- Describe how nutrition impacts diabetes management
- Describe the emotional impact of diabetes diagnosis on families and how to support parents and children living with diabetes
