COURSE INFORMATION

Course Overview

Feeding and swallowing problems are common and complex in young children. Without appropriate treatment, these disorders can have lasting effects on a child's physical and emotional development. Invited experts and faculty from Children's Hospital of Philadelphia will discuss a variety of interdisciplinary treatment approaches, as well as how to partner with families and medical and community providers to optimize successful outcomes.

General Information

The conference will be held in the Joseph Stokes Jr. Auditorium at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia on Friday, May 1, 2020. Registration will begin at 7:45 a.m.

Course Objectives

Upon completion of this course, the learner will be able to:

1. Identify medical, developmental and psychosocial factors that contribute to feeding difficulties in young children.
2. Recognize the challenges and obstacles faced by children with feeding disorders and their families, caregivers and providers.
3. List three strategies to bridge the gap between community providers, caregivers and a child's medical home.

Registration Fee: $250

The registration fee includes registration materials, continental breakfast, lunch, breaks and parking. As part of our green initiative, syllabus material will be available online.

To register, visit chop.cloud-cme.com.
