

Master Your Practice: Allergy, Asthma and Immunology

Friday, Sept. 22, 2023

HUB for Clinical Collaboration
Children's Hospital of Philadelphia

OVERVIEW

Practicing clinicians have been busier than ever. Remaining abreast of new guidelines and practice parameters can be challenging. This one-day course will include a Master Class Series to review major practice changes and difficult cases breakout sessions. This course is intended to provide a practical review and an update of new trends and published guidelines in these areas for pediatricians, family practitioners, nurse practitioners, nurses and other healthcare professionals.

OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of this course, participant should be able to:

1. Describe guideline updates for atopic dermatitis
2. Demonstrate and articulate the patients who should be considered for biologic therapy
3. Share guideline changes that have occurred over recent years for asthma management

GENERAL INFORMATION AND REGISTRATION FEES

The conference will be held at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia in the HUB Auditorium. The registration fee includes registration materials, continental breakfast, lunch, breaks and parking.
