COURSE OVERVIEW

Severe chronic lung disease (CLD) of infancy, also known as bronchopulmonary dysplasia (BPD), is the most common chronic complication of premature birth. It affects approximately 25% of preterm infants with birth weights less than 1,500 grams and more than 50% of infants weighing less than 750 grams. Infants with BPD frequently require lengthy hospital stays and costly post-discharge medical care. A diagnosis of BPD is a strong predictor of long-term impairment in lung function, cardiovascular health, growth and neurodevelopment.

Management of infants with severe CLD/BPD presents a unique challenge due to its multisystem involvement and common association with multiple non-lung comorbidities. A coordinated, evidence-based, multidisciplinary approach is crucial to achieve the best outcomes for this high-risk population. Ideally, this strategy includes cohesive management between neonatal and pediatric care providers to facilitate high-level continuity of care during the transition to home and throughout the child's life.

This multidisciplinary course is intended for physicians, advanced practice nurses, physician assistants, nurses, respiratory therapists and other members of the healthcare team such as occupational therapists, physical therapists, speech-language pathologists, dietitians and social workers who provide care for patients with CLD/BPD and their families. This course will explore the pathophysiology, current research and key aspects of the management of severe CLD, including diagnostic and treatment options. This course will also discuss the long-term needs of infants with severe CLD, highlighting the chronic nature of this illness extending beyond the neonatal period.

GENERAL INFORMATION

The COVID-19 pandemic has impacted many things on the healthcare landscape, including new approaches to deliver clinical education in a format to meet everyone's comfort level.

Our conference format this year will allow you to choose how you would like to attend — either in-person or virtually. Both in-person and virtual conference attendees will have access to the PowerPoint slides via chop.cloud-cme.com. The in-person conference will be held Tuesday, March 7 and Wednesday, March 8, 2023, at the Union League of Philadelphia. Registration will begin at 7 a.m., March 7. The registration fee includes continental breakfast both days, buffet lunch on Tuesday and program materials.

We take health concerns very seriously. COVID-related precautions will be in place to make the in-person event as safe and enjoyable as possible.

All registered meeting attendees and vendors must be fully vaccinated against COVID-19.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of this course, participants should be able to:

1. Describe the costs related to caring for a medically complex child
2. Explain opportunities to eliminate racial disparity in the NICU
3. Describe the use of stem cells in experimental models of CLD/BPD
4. Discuss evidence-based strategies in caring for infants with severe CLD/BPD
5. Describe expert approaches to clinical management of medically complex infants with CLD/BPD
