Overview

Welcome to “PEM in Practice,” a dynamic Continuing Medical Education (CME) course that provides healthcare professionals with a unique opportunity to enhance their pediatric emergency medicine (PEM) skills through interactive and innovative learning experiences. This course is taught by nationally recognized faculty from Children’s Hospital of Philadelphia and Boston Children’s Hospital, who bring their expertise and real-world experiences to the forefront of your education.

“PEM in Practice” immerses participants in a hands-on and interactive learning environment. By incorporating state-of-the-art evidence-based lectures, small group discussions, workshops, and simulations, this course ensures that participants gain practical skills and experience in procedural techniques and resuscitation. Through a comprehensive curriculum and emphasis on interactivity, this course distinguishes itself from other CME offerings.

Key Features:

Nationally recognized faculty:

Learn from leading experts in the field of pediatric emergency medicine. Our faculty members are renowned professionals from Children’s Hospital of Philadelphia and Boston Children’s Hospital, bringing their extensive knowledge and practical insights to enrich your learning experience.

Evidence-based lectures:

Engage in informative and up-to-date lectures that are grounded in the latest research and evidence-based practices.

Emphasis on hands-on activities and interactivity:

Participate through interactive activities. The course moves beyond passive learning and encourages active engagement, fostering a deeper understanding of the subject matter. This emphasis on hands-on activities and interactivity distinguishes this course from other CME offerings.

Small group discussions and workshops:

Participate in intimate and collaborative small group discussions led by experienced facilitators. These discussions provide a platform for in-depth exploration of topics, allowing participants to exchange ideas, share experiences, and engage in critical thinking and problem solving.

Procedure Fair:

Experience hands-on procedure training that enables you to develop and refine your skills in a controlled and supportive environment. You will have the option to choose from a variety of procedures encountered in both urgent care or office-based settings as well as critical procedures performed in the hospital environment.

Simulations:

Engage in high-fidelity simulations that replicate emergency scenarios commonly encountered in PEM. Through these simulations, participants will have the opportunity to apply their knowledge, make crucial decisions, and practice their skills in a protected setting.

The course is a transformative learning experience that equips healthcare professionals with practical skills, evidence-based knowledge, and the confidence to excel in PEM. Join us for an interactive and innovative course that will enhance your clinical practice and leave a lasting impact on your professional development.
